Admission requirements for The Royal Academy of Music

Master's degrees 2020

Welcome to The Royal Academy of Music

At The Royal Academy of Music (RAMA), we place the individual musician and the development of his/her special talents at the very centre of our work, and we are serious about both genre and musical variety and plurality.

Overall speaking, we educate our students for what we call artistic citizenship. This means that we teach all the skills needed to work in the world of music. At the same time, it means that education focuses on how you can create value within the areas of art, civil society and market as an artist or teacher. And above all, we help you to find the artistic expression that your talent provides.

The programmes are created in such a way that you from your 1st year of studies can influence the skills and professional competences that is to characterise your education. The opportunity to select skills and professional competences intensifies during the course of an education.

Unique surroundings

RAMA has departments in both Aarhus and Aalborg. This means that we have a broad network in the regions and in Denmark as such. We collaborate with festivals, professional ensembles, music schools, universities and many others concerning internships, concerts, research and teaching. In this area, we also place variety and plurality at the centre of our programmes.

In Aarhus, we reside in Musikhuset (The Concert Hall) and in Aalborg we reside in Musikkens Hus (House of Music). At both locations, we share the buildings with other important music institutions. We have state-of-the-art sound studios, fantastic concert halls with modern technology as well as modern teaching and rehearsal rooms especially build for the academy. Our buildings are located in the middle of two of the largest Scandinavian cities offering education, with a very lively study environment and a wide-ranging and attractive music life.

Vision and cooperation

RAMA is an international music academy in a globalised world. We collaborate closely with leading music academies around the world and have a large network at both teacher level and institution level. Our partners come from Europe, the Middle East, Asia, the United States and Africa, and we help you to meet that world in order to study, whether you want to go to Berlin, New York or somewhere else. At The Royal Academy of Music, you will meet many young foreign musicians studying here, and we have guest teachers from all over the world affiliated with the academy. Besides the scheduled classes, we organise many projects, symposia, internships in "the real world", master classes and student concerts every year. The daily classes are both within the individual subject areas and across subjects and musical genre. The opportunity to immerse yourself in your own subject area and, at the same time, be acquainted with other genres is what gives the academy a particularly rich and creative study environment.

The daily classes are both within the individual subject areas and across subjects and musical genres.

1 General information about admission for a Master's degree

1.1 Application for admission

Application for admission must be via the academy website: www.musikkons.dk. Information about the individual courses, including the relevant study programmes and curriculums, may be found at the website of the Royal Academy of Music.

Applicants for the Master programmes at the academy must pay a fee of DKK 500 for the audition. This fee partly covers expenses in connection with the conduct of the audition and is non-refundable unless the application is cancelled before the application deadline 1 December.

The application is not valid until the payment has been made.

Application deadline is 01 December 2019 at 12.00.

If the deadline is a Saturday, Sunday or holiday, the deadline is moved to the first coming weekday at 12.00.

1.2 information meetings

The Royal Academy of Music arranges information meetings about the degree courses every year. During the meetings, details about the course content will be explained and there will be time for questions, e.g. about the audition.

You may find further information about the information meetings at the academy website.

1.3 Auditions

Auditions take place in January and February 2020.

The auditions are evaluated according to the 7-point grading scale.

Normally, The Royal Academy of Music is not able to accept all qualified applicants. The acceptance process first and foremost emphasises the result of the audition, but other things must be considered as well, e.g. special needs in the music world and the consideration of a meaningful mix of instruments and voices for ensemble playing.

For the Rhythmic courses, the following applies: if an applicant applies and is qualified for more than one course, The Royal Academy of Music reserves the right to decide which of the courses, the applicant will be accepted at.

1.4 Deferrals and re-examinations

If an applicant is prevented from attending the audition due to illness, a deferral is offered. The prerequisite for a deferral is a submitted medical report no later than three days after the original audition.

Please note that the application fee of DKK 500 is not refunded in connection with illness.

Deferrals are planned by The Royal Academy of Music immediately after the auditions.

1.5 Accompanist and groups/bands

Applicants must bring their own accompanist(s), groups and bands unless otherwise described in the admission requirements. The Royal Academy of Music may be able to help out by referring to one of the employed accompanists. The expenses for the accompanist is to be held by the applicant.

1.6. Complaint procedures

A complaint in connection with the audition must be submitted to the academy no later than two weeks after the announcement of the result. For further information, please see the Executive Order about music educational programmes at the Music Academies and the Opera Academy (no. 833 of 23 June 2017) and the Executive Order about treatment of complaints about tests and examinations at the Music Academies and the Opera Academy (no. 616 of 05 May 2015).

2 Admission requirements for a Master's degree in Music

The aim of the Master's degree is to build on the student's Bachelor degree with further studies within the creating and performing music, within teaching music and other relevant subject areas.

2.1 Qualifying programmes

A passed relevant Bachelor degree is a prerequisite for acceptance to a Master's programme at The Royal Academy of Music.

3 Master's degree in Classical Music (Aarhus)

The following requirements apply to all courses for a Master's degree in Classical music.

Applicants with a Bachelor degree from The Royal Academy of Music only have sit an audition, if they apply for admission to a Performers' course or wish to change their main subject/instrument.
