Legislation for studying in Denmark: Tuition fees

According to legislation in Denmark, tuition fees will be charged from degree students from non-EU/EEA countries. Degree students are students studying for a full Bachelor programme, Master programme or Advanced Postgraduate diploma.

Students who enroll the academy as part of an official exchange programme i.e. Erasmus or Nordplus or a Bilateral Agreement are exempted from the tuition fee.

Students who obtain a temporary residence permit in Denmark have to pay a tuition fee. In certain cases, students from non-EU/EEA can be exempted from tuition fee. The exemption is granted on the basis of your residence permit in Denmark. In certain cases other rules may also apply.

1. If you obtain a permanent residence permit in Denmark you are exempted from paying a tuition fee.

2. If you have a temporary residence permit with the option for a lasting residence permit in Denmark you are exempted from paying a tuition fee.

3. If you participate in an exchange programme as Fulbright or DIS (Denmark's International Study) programme or a specific bilateral agreement between two institutions you are exempted from paying a tuition fee.

4. If for any reason you are granted parity to Danish citizens you are exempted from paying a tuition fee.

5. Participate in an Erasmus Mundus programme you are exempt from paying a tuition fee.

If you have doubts on whether or not you are exempted from tuition fee you should contact the Danish Immigration Services https://www.nyidanmark.dk/en-GB.
